

Political Science Minors

Political Science Minor

The Political Science minor provides students with an introduction to the discipline or the opportunity to specialize in one or two subfields. The sub-fields are American Politics, International relations, comparative politics or political thought. There are two alternatives for fulfilling the minor:

General Track: Three courses distributed among three of the four major sub-fields of political science, plus three Political Science electives (6 courses, 18 hours)

Specialized Track: Three courses in one of the major sub-fields, plus any other three Political Science electives (6 courses, 18 hours).

Asian Studies Minor

The Asian Studies Minor prepares students for career opportunities in law, business, journalism, arts, and education through interdisciplinary study of the geography, history, business, economics, politics, and culture of Asia.

For more information: <http://www.slu.edu/x36990.xml>

Director: Dr. Michelle Lorenzini, McGannon Hall, Room 138

Phone: 314. 977.3243

Email: lorenzms@slu.edu

Foreign Service Minor

This minor prepares students for an international career, whether with the U.S. State Department, with international non-governmental organizations, with international organizations, or in the private sector.

For more information: <http://www.slu.edu/x20809.xml>

Director: Dr. Emmanuel Uwalaka, McGannon Hall, Room 150

Phone: 314.977.3039

Email: uwalakaen@slu.edu

Global and Local Social Justice – Power, Society, Culture Interdisciplinary Minor

The aim of the minor is to foster understanding of the social and political structures that advance or inhibit social justice. Courses in the minor focus on the analysis of systemic and structural causes of injustice and war. The minor prepares students to engage social and political institutions to promote material welfare, racial and gender equality, individual human rights, peace, and other components of a just society.

For more information, <http://www.slu.edu/x32527.xml>

Director: Dr. Robert Strikwerda, McGannon Hall, Room 125

Phone: 314.977.4238

Email: rstrikwe@slu.edu

Political Journalism Minor

The Political Journalism interdisciplinary minor promotes skills in analysis of political phenomena and effective communication of ideas. The minor is suitable for students interested in careers in journalism, public relations in governmental or political organizations, or work on political campaigns.

For more information: <http://www.slu.edu/x14361.xml>

Interim Director: Dr. Robert Strikwerda, McGannon Hall, Room 125

phone: 314.977.4238

Email: rstrikwe@slu.edu

Political Science students may also be interested in these minors and minors:

More information: <http://www.slu.edu/x44230.xml>

African American Studies Minor

Contact Ms. Dana Guyton: guytondf@slu.edu, 314.977.2242

<http://www.slu.edu/x16272.xml>

Latin American Studies.

Contact Dr. Olga Arbelez: arbelez@slu.edu 314.977.3672

<http://www.slu.edu/x49820.xml>

Russian and Eastern European Studies Minor

Contact Dr. Daniel Schlafly: daniel@slu.edu 314.977.2915

<http://www.slu.edu/x26772.xml>

Women's Studies

Contact Dr. Penny Weiss: pweiss1@slu.edu 314.977.3619

<http://www.slu.edu/x17305.xml#WS%20Certificate>